EARLY ALERT

In the first few weeks of a new semester, there are always adjustments to make, and some students may find they experience greater challenges than others.

Early identification of issues and timely support may make all the difference to a student's success in a program.

Early Alert is an online referral system that enables instructors to identify students who are facing challenges in their courses or programs. This should occur during the first five weeks of a semester.

Students referred to Early Alert will be contacted by email and invited to meet with a member of the Student Access and Support Department. The student will then be connected with appropriate support services or resources.

Early Alert is available for the first five weeks of the fall and winter semesters. At all other times, students will be referred directly to the appropriate services.

Contact earlyalert@selkirk.ca for more information.
